Dear Friends,

We’re excited to share our 2025–2026 Impact Report and take a look back at how the Milwaukee Bucks Social Responsibility team showed up for our community this past year. This report highlights the people, partnerships, and moments that made a real difference across Wisconsin.

This season, we focused on opportunities—supporting youth, promoting health and wellness, and continuing to invest in our neighborhoods. By working closely with community partners and listening to what matters most, we’ve been able to grow our impact in meaningful ways.

Our players, staff, partners, and fans all play a part in bringing this work to life.

We’re incredibly grateful for the continued support of the Wisconsin Community. Because of you, we’re able to expand our impact and reach to more people each year.

We can’t wait to welcome you back to Fiserv Forum this season and keep the momentum going together.

VOLUNDEERING

While we are known for what we accomplish on the court, as an organization we take equal pride in the work we do beyond it. For us, it is essential that we show up, give back and spend meaningful time with those who make this city home. Throughout the season, staff from across the organization have come together, committing their time to giving back to the Milwaukee community that serves us. From packaging meals, to cleaning up our rivers, the Bucks contributed more than 800 hours of service and mobilized over 300 staff across the State.

+ FAN EXPERIENCE & ACCESSIBILITY

Creating a More Inclusive Game-Day Experience

The Milwaukee Bucks, in partnership with Ticketmaster and OneCourt, are expanding access to the game for fans who are blind or have low vision. OneCourt devices use tactile feedback and real-time audio updates to allow fans to feel and follow the action on the court. From passes and plays to points scored. By offering this technology at Bucks games, the organization is creating a more immersive and inclusive experience that helps every fan connect to the excitement of game day.

BOYS & GIRLS CLUB

Throughout the year, the Milwaukee Bucks strengthened our longstanding partnership with the Boys & Girls Clubs of Greater Milwaukee through youth education, mentorship, health and wellness, and engagement with club staff, families and the youth.

Across 10+ events and programs and more than 500 hours of engagement, Bucks players, staff and partners created meaningful experiences for Club members. Highlights included continuing our annual Back-to-School Backpack Distribution with Fiserv, mentoring youth through the Youth of the Year program with Kohl's, hosting a Christmas celebration event with Cole Anthony and welcoming our 2026 draft picks, Nate Ament and Brayden Burries, at the local club.

PLAYER INITIATIVES

With as much passion as the players bring to the court, they bring just as much to making a difference off of it. Throughout the season, players dedicated time to causes that mean the most to them, learning and deepening the connection to the fans and community that support them each day.

ANDRE JACKSON JR.

DRE'S COAT DRIVE

Andre Jackson Jr. hosted his second-annual Winter Gear Drive and Distribution alongside AJ Green, providing more than 500 winter coats, hats, gloves, scarves and socks to youth and families at the Pieper-Hillside Boys & Girls Club. In addition to supporting the Boys & Girls Club, both Andre and AJ extended their efforts to help even more individuals stay warm throughout the winter season. Jackson donated gear to Amsterdam Middle School in his hometown of Amsterdam, NY, while AJ donated winter gear items to Street Angels here in Milwaukee, an organization dedicated to assisting individuals ending their unsheltered homelessness.

“Giving back isn't something that I do on the side; it's who I am...I was raised to uplift the people around me, and I know I wouldn't be where I am today without my community pouring into me. So, any time I have a chance to show up, help or make a kid smile, I'm going to do it.

Using my platform to give back is important to me because it's bigger than basketball; it's about making a real impact and helping others feel seen, supported and inspired to chase their own dreams.”

NBA CARES BOB LANIER COMMUNITY ASSIST AWARD – MARCH

Ryan Rollins was recognized for his season-long commitment to youth literacy, his meaningful engagement with justice-impacted youth, and his efforts to expand access to inclusive basketball programming across the Milwaukee and Detroit communities. The NBA and NBPA Foundation donated $20,000 to Developing K.I.D.S in Detroit.

RYAN ROLLINS

This season, Ryan Rollins made an impact off the court through initiatives focused on literacy, system-impacted youth and youth basketball. Through his Buckets for Books program, Rollins donated one book for every point he scored during the regular season, resulting in a total of 1,281 books distributed to youth across Milwaukee Public Schools.

For our Bucks Season of Giving, Rollins hosted a Friendsgiving for 60 system-impacted youth, creating space for a shared meal and conversations surrounding vision, resilience and purpose. He also participated in a wheelchair basketball clinic with the Wisconsin Adaptive Sports Association, where more than 80 youth participated in drills and activities alongside him.

“Growing up, the moments that stayed with me were the ones where somebody made me feel like I mattered,” said Rollins. “That’s what I’m chasing with this work – whether it’s putting a book in a kid’s hands or sitting down with young people who just need someone to believe in them. I’m blessed to play this game, but this is what the game is actually for.”

MYLES TURNER

HUNGER TASK FORCE

In March, Turner teamed up with Hunger Task Force for their March Madness campaign, ensuring every donation to HTF would be matched dollar-for-dollar, doubling the amount of healthy food available to individuals in the Milwaukee community.

This holiday season, Kyle Kuzma gave back to the Milwaukee Community through a Turkey Drive at House of Peace in partnership with Gruber Law Offices. With support from the Kyle Kuzma Family Foundation, the initiative doubled the number of meals provided, helping support a total of 300 families for the Thanksgiving holiday. Alongside Kyle, Bucks Legends also supported the drive including Michael Redd, Brandon Jennings and Jim Paschke.

Additionally, the Kyle Kuzma Family Foundation hosted “Kuz’s Golden Ticket” during the holiday season, treating nearly 100 families and youth from Silver Spring Neighborhood Center to a night of holiday festivities, special gifts and a gear giveaway to help make the holiday season memorable for everyone in attendance.

BUCKS LEGENDS

Milwaukee Bucks Legends helped build the foundation and history of this organization, and having them back in the environment where they created so many unforgettable moments means a great deal to both the franchise and our fans. Their continued presence not only honors the legacy they established, but also connects past and present as they become part of the history that continues to be made alongside our current players and the next generation of Bucks basketball.

This season, we welcomed several Bucks Legends back to Milwaukee for a variety of events that celebrated culture, strengthened connections and created new memories with our fans, players and community. From our annual Soiree and Golf Outing to spending time giving back through clinics, the Legends continued to strengthen their legacy here in the city.
